

Lycoming College Art Gallery

25 W. 4th Street

Remixes by Eddy López

Open 5pm-9pm. Works by printmaker Eddy López utilize big data, averaging algorithms, and 500-year-old printmaking techniques to create compositions that attempt to find the beauty in chaos in his exhibit. López layers wide-scale collages to merge historical, mythological, political and religious imagery into abstract compositions of vibrant colors, patterns, and shapes. On display July 6 – September 8.

Arthaus Projects

3rd Annual Juried Show, Techne

This year's theme examines the relationship between art and science as methods of making sense of the world around us. Participating artists were asked to create original pieces of artwork that are related to science in some aspect. The goal is the pursuit of new concepts and technologies, within science and art together, to fundamentally change how we perceive our experience and/or reality. Entries for this year's juried show came from 5 different countries and 21 different states. The exhibition runs until August 11th.
